IT Officer's Report

I am pleased to report that the email service has been moved across from the old BCA server to the new CSCC server. This completes the transition to our new webserver. This should improve the reliability of our email addresses, i.e. ones ending in @cscc.org.uk. Please let me know if any problems persist,.

However one step forwards, two steps back. On 21st Oct there was a zero day vulnerability announced within the PHP programming language. This was serious and made the news world wide. For example see the BBC's article at https://www.bbc.co.uk/news/articles/cmly0lg3w5x2o

I patched the server the same day but unfortunately the patch killed the Access Guide section of the website. Fixing it is more than a five minute job but I hope to have it working again soon.
